NEW DELHI: The Congress central leadership held a meeting on Tuesday to finalise portfolio allocations for the newly inducted ministers in Karnataka government and also deliberated upon the possible induction of a woman minister in the chief minister DK Shivakumar-led cabinet, people familiar with the matter said.

Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge, senior party leaders Rahul Gandhi, KC Venugopal and Karnataka in-charge Randeep Singh Surjewala were present in the meeting, a party functionary said, adding that the portfolios will be announced within 24 hours.

Shivakumar, who was sworn-in as the CM along with 13 ministers on June 3, expanded his cabinet on August 3, inducting 19 more ministers. After the expansion, the cabinet now has one vacant berth.

A senior leader said the issue of inducting a woman minister was also discussed.

"We have to select a woman leader keeping in mind the social and regional balance," the functionary said.

Ram temple Trust CEO aspirants face faith, achievement questions

Pawan Dixit

letters@hindustantimes.com

LUCKNOW: Are you a staunch Hindu? Or a casual believer? A teetotaler? Vegetarian? What kind of experience do you have in managing crowds?

These are some of the questions fielded by the first batch of aspirants seeking to be the Shri Ram Jannabhoomi Teerth Kshetra Trust's first full-time chief executive officer. Some of the questions were part of a 34-point Google Form that the eight candidates who appeared for interviews on Tuesday filled out. And others were posed to them by the interview panel comprising retired Supreme Court Justice Pramod Kohli, Lt General (retired) Vishnukant Chaturvedi and former scientist Dr Suresh Haware.

In all, 18 candidates were short-listed for interviews from the around 5,200 applications the trust received to its advertisement released July 13, after a round of online interviews. That release came in the wake of a controversy surrounding embezzlement of donations received by the temple, a matter that is under investigation, and which has already claimed the heads of two senior members of the trust.

Information sought from applicants

1. Personal profile

2. Education and professional track:

Applicants had to declare highest qualification and current status, show 20 to 30+ years of experience in corporate, administration or management, specify the sectors and how many people had they led— from 1,000 to over 5,000.

3. Crowd and event management: With Ayodhya hosting massive gatherings year-round, candidates had to detail events in which they managed 5k to 20k+ people.

4. Faith and social connect:

Applicants were asked if they had worked with social or religious organisations and for how long.

5. Vision, achievement and references:

They had to submit a vision document, work plan and suggestions for the Trust. Any 'special or extraordinary achievement' had to be listed. Finally, two references from professional, social or religious spheres were required for background checks.

On Tuesday, the eight candidates who appeared for interviews comprised four former IAS officers and three former military officers. The interviews lasted between one and two hours. Neither the members of the panel nor the trustees commented on record on the selection process.

HT gathered details of the questions and the process from people familiar with the matter who asked not to be named given the sensitivities involved.

The Ram Temple at Ayodhya is one of the holiest sites in Hinduism and a temple was finally built there after a prolonged legal fight. It was thrown open to the public in early 2024 after an elaborate ceremony presided over by Prime Minister Narendra Modi. The temple has since attracted millions. Reports of embezzlement of donations have, therefore, caused a stir. The appointment of a professional CEO is one of the ways in which the Trust hopes to regain the confidence of people.

On Tuesday, the people HT spoke to said the candidates were asked about their faith, families, leadership abilities, and the vision and work plan for the Ram temple. The interviews were conducted in the temple complex itself.

Former IPS officer Rajesh Pandey will be among those interviewed on Wednesday, the people added.

The identities of the shortlisted candidates have not been made public yet.

Retired IAS officer Yogeshwar Mishra, who served as Faizabad district magistrate from January 7 to March 26, 2016, neither confirmed nor denied his candidature. His last posting was divisional commissioner of Gonda division.

Pandey, a former inspector general of UP Police, was also the Lucknow senior superintendent of police and founder-member of the UP Special Task Force. His last posting was inspector general of police (Bareilly range).

He is also secretary of Lucknow's historic Hanuman Mandir, Aliganj, which witnesses a huge turnout of devotees on festive occasions.

From among the 18 candidates, the selection committee will shortlist three names and submit them to the Trust before September 2, when the next meeting of the Trust's executive committee is scheduled. The Trust will then interview the final trio and announce the CEO.

The CEO will be the highest executive authority of the Trust. The job involves managing statutory, financial and administrative functions, and building systems for a temple that will see millions of pilgrims, coordinating security with central and state agencies, and ensuring rituals and festivals run smoothly.
